

Like the pages of a book, all different from each other, they tell a story, recount moments, convey emotions, and so do the wines of small producers. Authors of stories in a larger history that is the tradition of a culture.

In this Lot 22, we're writing the next page of a previous chapter, one more adventure in the imagination of our readers, something that make us feel the constant restlessness of creating new directions and paths of flavour.

A blend of wines, of people, of authors...

another page in the Quinta Pousada de Fora history, where you are the main character.